Bilingual / Bilingue | Union Steward

When a member doesn't know where to turn, they turn to their steward. I am that person.

As a union steward with CEIU Local 621, I show up for members in the moments that matter most. What I bring to this role isn't a list of titles. It's the trust of the people I represent, and I take that seriously every single day.

One of the issues I'm most proud to have pushed on is the Curam program, which has had a real and documented impact on our members' productivity and mental health, as well as on the clients we serve. Alongside our head shop steward, I have made it a standing item at our Labour-Management Consultation Committee meetings. Every single meeting, we bring it to management. We don't let it drop.

As co-chair of our LUMCC alongside our local president, I work directly with management to raise member concerns and push for real solutions. I am also passionate about advocating for women's issues in the workplace and carry that commitment into everything I do as a steward.

I have completed multiple steward trainings and conferences, including serving as a delegate at the PSAC Ontario Triennial and attending the CEIU Triennial Convention, building the experience I'll bring to representing CEIU Ontario at every convention.

As a bilingual member, I can engage with and represent both English and French-speaking members, making sure no one has to navigate this alone.

I am asking for your vote.
