2027 PSAC National Triennial Convention Delegate Resume Hiuyee Choi

I am currently serving as the Vice-President of CEIU Local 30856 in Calgary, where I have had the opportunity to contribute to our local's union activities and support members in the workplace. Through this role, I have developed a stronger understanding of the importance of effective representation, solidarity, and member engagement.

I am seeking to attend the 2027 PSAC National Triennial Convention because I believe meaningful union representation begins with listening to members and bringing their experiences and concerns to the broader union movement. As a local union representative, I would value the opportunity to bring the perspectives of our Calgary members to the national level while also learning from delegates and activists across Canada.

The Convention would provide an important opportunity for me to deepen my understanding of PSAC's priorities, resolutions, collective bargaining, workplace issues, and strategies for strengthening member participation. I am particularly interested in learning how other locals and components are addressing challenges facing federal public servants and how we can share effective practices across our union.

If selected as a delegate, I would approach the Convention with an open mind, a strong sense of responsibility, and a commitment to representing our members' interests. I hope to actively participate in discussions, listen to diverse perspectives, and contribute constructively to the decisions that shape our union.

Most importantly, I would bring the knowledge and experiences gained at Convention back to our local and use them to strengthen member engagement, communication, and representation. I see this opportunity not only as professional development in my union role, but as a meaningful way to contribute to building a stronger, more connected, and more inclusive PSAC.
