Seeking Your Support for the 2027 PSAC Triennial Convention

My name is Jessica Power, and for the past six years I have been a committed advocate not only for the members of Local 90113, but for all PSAC members. Throughout my involvement, I have focused on collaboration, relationship-building, and finding ways for us to work together as one united movement because I believe we are stronger when we stand together.

I have had the privilege of serving as President of Local 90113 for the past three years and was recently elected as the PSAC Provincial Director for Newfoundland and Labrador. These roles have provided me with a strong understanding of the issues affecting our members and the importance of effective representation at all levels of our union.

In addition to my elected positions, I participate at LUMCC tables, serve on the Workplace Occupational Health and Safety Committee, sit on the Atlantic Regional Council Education Committee, and am a member of the Mobilization Committee. I also serve on the PSAC Artificial Intelligence Working Group, helping examine emerging workplace issues and their impact on workers.

Attending the 2027 PSAC Triennial Convention is important to me because critical decisions are made that will shape the future direction of our union for the next three years. Delegates debate resolutions, establish priorities, and make decisions that affect members across the country. I take that responsibility seriously and approach every decision with the best interests of all members at heart.

Convention is something I am passionate about. My years of union activism, leadership experience, and committee work have provided me with valuable knowledge and perspective that I believe would contribute positively to the discussions and decisions made at Convention.

I respectfully ask for your support to attend the 2027 PSAC Triennial Convention.
